City of Commerce, Calif.-based American-De Rosa Lamparts supplies a variety of components and bulbs for manufacturers as well as distributors that maintain repair departments. The company prides itself on stocking more than 5,000 items ranging from sockets and tools to crystals produced by makers in the Czech Republic, Austria, and Turkey. With basics such as switches, transformers, drivers, and ballasts to glass and polycarbonate shades, the collection also covers decorative brass and aluminum castings. Its branded Permalite bulbs are offered in specialty designs as well as colored and silvered models.

For dealers, American-De Rosa also provides components for antique lamps plus an extensive collection of carded parts to enhance the repair department. A giant 382-page catalog contains data on most of the inventory, however, the customer service department will assist in locating hard-to-find items and directing calls to technicians for additional advice. Distribution centers in City of Commerce and Tampa assure swift shipping.
